“Creatures Galore: A Fictional Argument for Mythical and Imaginative Realism”

Advisor: Dr. Sam Cowling (Philosophy)

AREAS OF SPECIALIZATION

Contemporary French Philosophy and post-Deleuzian Thought — My research primarily follows questions of energeticism and materialism—the crux between the two being most fully explicated by Freud, Bataille, Deleuze and Guattari, and Land—with the aim of producing a genealogical account of so-called ‘libidinal materialism’ and impersonal desire as ontology undergirding both speculative realism and capitalism as process. Additionally, I work on topics related to cyber-feminism, Internet culture and cybernetic philosophy, speculative realism and continental metaphysics, and the changes in (inter)subjective experiences vis-à-vis occulted, ‘magical,’ or deterritorialized space.

AREAS OF COMPETENCE

I am competent and comfortable with (continental) philosophy, modern philosophy, philosophy of technology, science fiction and cyberpunk studies, existentialism, Afrofuturism, and political philosophy generally, the history of fascism and anti-fascism specifically. A few non-traditional thinkers with whom I am familiar are Freud, Bataille, Deleuze and Guattari, the CCRU, Harman, Moynihan, and Meillassoux.
